

‘Before and after’ images of Ladbroke Grove, looking north.

Mini roundabouts replaced by controlled lights and crossings.

Ladbroke Grove: Ladbroke Gardens

This new park creates a generous public space adjacent to Ladbroke Grove, and includes better access to existing wharf. It will provide a variety of different landscapes spaces including a children's playspace. It will also provide space for a family focused event space as part of the Notting Hill Carnival.

Ladbroke Grove: The Avenue

The buildings on either side of the Avenue have been scaled so as to create a recognisable London street. The south facing northern side of the street is wider and welcomes pedestrians and cyclists towards the centre of the site via wide pavements and dedicated cycle lanes.

Canalside Fringe: The Canal Basin

Ladbroke Gardens opens up to the canal edge and makes a much more welcome and open access points for pedestrians and cyclists travelling westward along the canal.

The canalside fringe as viewed from the Ladbroke Grove road bridge.

Canalside Fringe