

Appendix A: Responses from consultation

Name	Support?	Comments on the re-designation of the St Quintin and Woodlands Neighbourhood Forum.	Rename?	Question:5 Do you have any other comments?
Howell	No	I do not believe the forum is as democratic an organization representative of the interests of people in the area as one might be lead to believe. I know of various planning applications in the area which have had objections raised by St Helen's association which are not in fact Association objections, but rather no more than an individual's objection, submitted by the president, xxxxx, without any notice to, consultation of, or consent from its members. Thereby the Association is being using unjustly and illegitimately as a means to try and add more credence or weight to an objection. As a result of this manner of conduct, while the association may be good in providing some news of large, proposed developments the area, it is not necessarily used as a valid representative of the people who live in the area. And therefore, this is an abuse of the role of the Forum, and as a result, its re-instatement should not be allowed.	No
Jennie Marshall	Yes	The forum is open to people living and working in the area and is diverse and inclusive, including many more than 21 people from all areas of the neighbourhood.		The Forum does invaluable work and I very much hope it will continue.
Claudia Hutchings	Yes	I support this forum and its continuation. It is of great benefit to all of us.	Yes
D. Forrester	Yes	I fully support redesignation of the St Quintin and Woodlands Neighbourhood Forum. I believe they work hard to maintain and improve the quality of our streets, homes, and remaining green spaces, helped by the planning policies in the StQW Neighbourhood Plan as adopted by RBKC in 2018	No	It's all good as it is, please don't change anything
Dimitrios Makromallis	Yes	I believe it meets all the requirements for re- designation.	Yes	It does a fantastic job in keeping everyone informed of developments and other such matters of concern to residents and should be re-designated for a further five years.

Alexandra Tatton-Brown	Yes	The Forum is open to anyone who lives or works in the area. Everyone is free to join in and is welcomed. Whether they chose to is their affair. I think it does a brilliant job of promoting and improving social, economic and environmental wellbeing in the neighbourhood	Yes	It is very useful
St Quintin and Woodlands Neighbourhood Forum (Henry Peterson)	Yes	The StQW Forum continues to be active in seeking to improve quality of life in the neighbourhood area. Membership currently stands at 380 residents and businesses in the area as designated in 2013, with a wide geographic spread. In the last six months the Forum has distributed a leaflet to all households with information about neighbourhood planning, and a subsequent invitation to a 'Greening your Home' event at West London Bowling Club on September 14th. The Forum provides a means for local people to be involved in planning issues, and in helping to shape future development in this part of the Borough.	Yes

St Helens Gardens Residents' Association	No	I have concerns about the redesignation of the StQW Neighbourhood Form and in particular its expansion into Latimer Road. They admit that they have limited outreach ability as it stands. Their leafleting is outsourced, there is no knocking on doors. We have had to set up our own RA to defend ourselves against the StQW. At the last StQW meeting, members were scoffing and shouting out negative comments whilst residents from Latimer Road tried to speak. The chair did nothing to stop them and it was all very undignified. Why does this organisation continue to use "Woodlands" in its name when it does not cover that area. The Woodlands area took exception to its inclusion without consultation at inception. Inclusivity (attachment B). A lack of knowledge about the diversity of our demograph is apparent, we have over 500 social housing units in the area, a figure which does not include privately run care homes or those paying rent to private landlords through the benefits system, contrary to the belief of the chair. I asked the chair of StQW to look into the installation of new windows on around six houses by a housing association on Finstock Road W10, part of the conservation area and he did not. In the end the matter was taken up by our councillor and the windows which were installed are now being replaced to match their neighbours. One of their achievements was the turning of a giant advertising sign by the Westway, it primarily affected Highlever Road, where three of their committee members live. It now faces hundreds more people living in tower blocks. The disastrous street improvements on St Helen's Gardens were implemented in conjunction with STQW (attachment A), the Forum boasts that the improvements were in consultation with residents and businesses, absolutely untrue. I joined

the working party at the 11th hour and tried to include the greengrocer myself. In fact a whole narrative has been spun out to defend StQW by implying that somehow our parade of shops needed rescuing. The shop vacancy numbers were incorrectly reported, slum dwellings inaccurately reported and the Chair personally advocated to the council, under the name of StQW for planning permission to be granted for a private school at number 73 without consulting his own committee or even members whom he knew lived in close proximity – contrary to their own rules.
Please see attachment C.

Neighbourhood forums are supposed to have more insight and local information than the council, StQW have never shown any interest in what the actual residents of St Helen's Gardens think, we had any opportunity for co-design removed because the council naturally thought that StQW knew what they were talking about. The reality is that the group is mainly composed of elderly, middle class residents who only ask one another what they think and have no curiosity as to what is going on the ground in the areas they seek to influence.

The Neighbourhood plan posted includes an illustration of a piazza idea on St Helen's Gardens and shows seating and umbrellas on private areas. Demonstrating a lack of knowledge of the area which could have been easily clarified by asking even one shopkeeper who owns what – or even me! Even as far on as 2019. Please see attachment D. When I joined the RBKC working party for the improvements to St Helens Gardens, the designers for RBKC had drawn up plans which included seating on those private areas until I told them it was illegal, these ideas were probably influenced by the StQW designs. (attachment E) Two members of that working party were from the StQW committee.

When I have challenged the StQW on the similarities between the illustration (a shared, entirely flat road and pavement), they have been at pains to tell me that the piazza is an 'action' point, not policy. A sort of non-denial denial. They also enacted a change to change of use on our parade without first consulting residents or businesses based on wrong occupancy figures.

		As recently as July and after all the discussion on consultation I was asked to fill in a form for funding for CCTV at St Helen's with two weeks' notice. I explained it was not enough time to ask everyone if they wanted it, which should have been self-evident. (attachment F). I don't think they are bad people, I think it does not occur to them to do due diligence on anything. It gives an impression of high-handedness and the imposition of a middle-class agenda. Gentrification has been happening organically for many years and does not need a helping hand. The StQW needs more accountability, more oversight and more diversity. Redacted attachment view here.
